

Assistant Professor of Physiology

University of Navarra in Spain

Deadline 15 December, 2020

Salary Not specified

Employment Type Full-time

The Department of Food Science, Nutrition and Physiology of the Faculty of Pharmacy and Nutrition (University of Navarra) seeks to fill a one year full-time, Assistant Professor position in Physiology, to begin September 2021. Depending on performance and mutual interests, the contract may be extended. Advanced candidates may eventually apply for tenure.

AOC: Human Physiology

AOS: Nutrition and Metabolism

The candidate will work in the Department of Food Science, Nutrition and Physiology, a unit of 20 professors, 11 researchers that are actively involved in several degrees in the Faculties of Pharmacy and Nutrition, Science and Nursing. This department is also in charge of the European Master of Nutrition and Metabolism and participates in the PhD Program in Food Science, Physiology and Health. The candidate research will be linked to the Center for Nutrition Research aimed at performing research and development on human nutrition (<https://www.unav.edu/en/web/centro-de-investigacion-en-nutricion>).

Candidates will have a PhD from an accredited institution in Human Physiology and Metabolism and a post-doctoral stage in this field (at least two years) in a non-Spanish University by the date of the commencement of the position. Also, accreditation as Profesor Contratado Doctor by ANECA will be required by that time.

Part of the candidate's teaching will be on graduate courses in Human Physiology and Pathology. Any previous experience in the teaching of these or related subjects both in English and in Spanish will be very positively considered. Duties include teaching (in Spanish or English) and assisting with program development, as well as advisement and supervision of undergraduate and master's students.

Demonstrated research excellence or promise of research in his/her AOS is expected. The Department of Food Science, Nutrition and Physiology will take into consideration the successful candidate's ability to lead research or academic projects in his or her unit, to be genuinely committed to students and show a collaborative spirit with colleagues and administrative staff.

Applicants should submit a dossier that includes:

1. a cover letter that describes his or her research, teaching experience, and a selection of three representative publications
2. a current CV
3. scanned passport
4. and the names and contact information of two references

And email them to callfisisio@unav.es. For further information or queries, please contact us at the same email address. For full consideration, please submit your dossier by 15th December 2020. Review of applications will begin on December 2020 and continue until the search is successfully concluded. Pre-selected candidates will be initially interviewed on line.

The position is subject to final administrative approval.

The University of Navarra (www.unav.edu) is an international University committed to quality teaching and excellence in research. It was founded on the basis of Catholic principles by St. Josemaría Escrivá and is a corporate work of Opus Dei. It provides suitable opportunities for the development of its professors and employees, carries out broad cultural outreach and social promotion through NGOs and charities, and encourages service learning programs. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment.